PEZZUTTO TO APPEAR TODAY FOR SENTENCE

MARTINEZ, Feb. 29.—Deliberating less than half an hour a jury this afternoon convicted Alexander Pezzutto of assault with a deadly weapon. Judge A. B. McKenzie fixed tomorrow as the time for imposing sentence.

With testimony completed in a day trial of Pezzutto, wealthy Rodeo service station owner, accused of attempting to murder John McIlree, Oakland salesman, was submitted to a jury in Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie's court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Pezzutto, charged with assault with intent to murder, is accused of stabbing McIlree on December 8 in a brawl in a Rodeo garage that was induced by an argument over an $115 tire bill. Only four witnesses, McIlree, Mrs. Ethel Coe of Oakland and Pezzutto and his wife were examined.

McIlree claimed that after a fight, he terminated Pezzutto drew a knife and stabbed him in the side. Pezzutto denied the statement, declared he had the knife in his hand when the fight started and said he had no intention of wounding McIlree. Mrs. Pezzutto testified to her husband's appearance, declaring that he had bruises on his face, where, he said, he had been kicked. Mrs. Coe, who had parked her car near the garage said she saw the men engaged in the struggle and that before it began she observed Pezzutto with a knife cleaning his nails.

The case was prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoey with Attorneys T. D. Johnston and H. M. Bishop appearing for the defense.

Curry Wins Deepening Of Suisun Bay To 30 Feet

Cheering news to the industrial and shipping interests of Contra Costa county and a message which caused the hopes of Stockton for a speedy consummation of its pet project to mount high came this morning in a telegram from Congressman Charles F. Curry in which belief was expressed that the $58,000 appropriation for a channel 300 feet wide and 30 feet deep across Bulls Head shoal can be included in the next Rivers and Harbors appropriation bill.

Curry wired Sheriff R. R. Veale this morning. Early in the session I had a resurvey of the Suisun Bay project ordered by the committee on rivers and harbors. General Jadin, chief engineer, has submitted a report to Congress approving the recommendation of the board of engineers. Their recommendation is as follows:

"The board therefore recommends modifications of existing project for Suisun Bay so as to provide for a channel 30 feet deep and 300 feet wide through Bullshead Point Shoal, subject to the provision that local interests contribute the sum of $30,000 to the cost of the work and for a channel south of Seals Island, 20 feet deep and 250 wide extending from Point Edith to Bay Point at a total estimated cost of $58,000 with $7,500 annually for maintenance. The total first cost of the work of the United States is estimated to be $38,000." After discussing the matter with Chairman Dempsey of the Rivers and Harbors Committee I believe we can have project included in the next rivers and harbors bill.

CHARLES F. CURRY. All of which summed up in a few words means that Congressman Curry has succeeded in convincing the powers that be in the lower house that a wide, deep channel extending through the shoal waters from Bullshead Point at Martinez to Bay Point is a vital necessity to accommodate the great industrial plants at Martinez, Avon, Bay Point and Pittsburg.

CROWDS VIEW FASHIONS AT OPENING HERE

The Spring Fashion event, long looked forward to by residents of Richmond, was officially opened last night by the unveiling of windows by merchants.

New spring styles for men and women were displayed in the shop windows and at fashion shows by living models. Spring flowers and greener greenery added to the colorful presentation of the new modes. Boughs of acacias, tulips and jonquils gave the fresh atmosphere of spring.

Sports clothes for men and women; evening gowns, afternoon gowns, street garment and dinner gowns vied with each other in the gaze of those attending the spring opening.

ALBERTS INC.

At Albert's Inc. many colorful styles were displayed on living models. Beautiful ensembles of tan kasha cloth, flannels, broadcloths and tailored models of mannish style were featured. The new Valero capes were much in evidence. One particularly attractive model was in navy blue with red trimming. Wood violet, greens and rose beige predominated. Evening gowns trimmed with lace and beads were shown. Another attractive model was a suit in black and white in the mannish style.

Small hats in silks and felts were shown and several large hats in silk and straw were featured. The seven-eighths length coat seemed to be the popular length for spring in the models featured.

While tan, navy blue, black and white and bright greens vied with one another in the sport costumes, the high colors appeared to have full sway in the evening gowns. The ensembles were divided into two groups, the long and the short-coated effects.

Many cleverly designed shoes were to be seen on display in the window at Albert's. Parchment and black were the predominating colors. A parchment kid Cuban heel sandal was featured as was a pair of parchment kid O'neal pumps. A pair of black one-strap patent pumps with tear drop cut-outs and a large smoked pearl button to fasten, attracted much attention. A pair of beautiful silver kid regent pumps were shown for evening wear and for sport's wear there was an unusually attractive parchment calf oxford tie and a six-eye tie oxford, also of parchment calf, trimmed in alligator.

BEN MALIK'S

Ben Malik's, house of courtesy, on Macdonald avenue at Eighth street, is showing the latest Fashion Park clothes, with two windows featuring men's street and sport dress. One style in men's suits is the short coat with low pocket, low line, and the two button model preferred. It was stated by Malik yesterday that tan and grey suits, light green furnishings, hats of light tan and grey, with either tan or black shoes are the appropriate styles for the new spring outfit.

Men's furnishings purchased in Richmond are ahead of the styles of the clothes shown in the large cities, according to Malik, as the condition is such that competition with the large stores of the latest line of goods be kept on hand at all times.

MISS SHEARER SCORES HIT AT THE CALIFORNIA

Norma Shearer scores heavily again. This time in a unique starring vehicle which gives her the role of a traveling saleswoman in the Middle West for a New York firm of Jewish wholesalers.

At the California Theatre, where "The Latest from Paris" opened yesterday, a crowded house spontaneously applauded the screen work of the young woman, who was believed to have reached her pinnacle in "His Secretary," but who scores even more heavily in her newest Metro-Goldwyn Mayer opus, the first since her marriage to Irving Thalberg, studio executive.

Norma long ago learned that ten feet of film acting beats a hundred feet of posing. Hence she leaves the posing for others and is satisfied with the footage which requires dramatic effort.

Norma's liking for character starring roles gives her a vast field of opportunities which other beautiful young women pass up in order to wear magnificent wardrobes. In "His Secretary" she devoted half of her picture to a dowdy character before the metamorphosis which permitted her to show her beauty in contrast with her appearances in the earlier sequences.

In "The Waning Sex" she played the role of a woman lawyer; another chance for dramatic action without the distraction of gowns and furbelows. In "After Midnight" she attracted attention as a moth among butterflies then the most gorgeously gowned creatures of the night club where she sold cigarettes and refused dates proffered by fresh young men—and old ones, too, for that matter.

Miss Shearer serves every opportunity offered her in A. P. Younger's screen play of a traveling saleswoman who matches wits with the male drummers, and remains feminine. The picture is very capably directed by Sam Wood and the work of Ralph Forbes, George Sidney, Bert Roach and others is excellent.

Other features include Harry Langdon in Mack Sennett's latest comedy "Saturday Afternoon"; and current news events.

Feminine Note Seen In Sport Clothes

SPORTS clothes have passed through many vicissitudes for many years seeming not to know quite what they were supposed to be—anything that was not obviously a dressy afternoon creation being called a "sports dress" such a garment usually being conspicuous for much inappropriate detail. Clothes for active sports erred too much in the other direction, and were unbecomingly masculine.

This year sports clothes seem to have divided themselves into two categories: those for active sports, while preserving their clean-cut utilitarian features, have become alluringly feminine. Those for the idle spectators who nevertheless follow an outdoor life, there will be more latitude, but still, strict limits of good taste in the matter of detail and accessories, and set laws in the matter of cut and material.

In sports costumes the two-piece combination leads. Sometimes

Necklines are varied. The most universally approved type is the flat surplice closing and its variations. Necklines that lace up instead of buttoning are interesting. The V which is outlined with geometric appliques is another highly favored treatment. Scarf collars appear in wonderful variety, manipulated in many ingenious ways. The close neck-line, with dainty turnback collar

It is the regulation two-piece costume with pleated skirt and jumper, sometimes with the cardigan jacket as substitute for the jumper and again, where the cardigan appears in connection with the jumper, making it a three-piece ensemble. Again, it takes on a fourth partner in the shape of a top coat.

Skirts are generously pleated, the pleats usually more compact than heretofore. Full pleats grouped all the way around the skirt, and the pleats with stitched edges are but few of the recurring types.

Silk sports frocks may be sleeveless, in one or two pieces, but preferably the former. Gay notes are often added to the white sports frock through the leather belt. Jane Regny uses bright red ones with silver ornaments on the front. Both leather and suede have considerable importance as decorative notes for sports clothes.

ALL STAR CAST IN FEATURE AT THE RICHMOND

To those carping critics, and that portion of the public who assert that there is nothing new in the movies, there is a direct and definite answer.

That answer is "The Private Life of Helen of Troy." First National Pictures' liberal screen version of John Erskine's great novel, "The local engagement of the picture opened last night at the Richmond Theatre."

The picture contains brilliant comedy and sly satire. It makes its characters human, and at times ridiculous. The most beautiful woman of all time—Helen of Troy—is not a perfect wife. She is not even a perfect sweetheart, as Paris speedily discovered. Paris, on the other hand, is human too, and Menelaos has all the attributes of the tired business man.

There is no point in attempting to convey to you what the picture contains because it is futile. It has everything.

Deserving of great credit are Carey Wilson, who adapted and produced the story, and Alexander Korda, who directed it. A fine intelligence, a keen sense of humor and a grasp of values, was displayed in the work of both these men.

But there are other names on credit titles of the production which cannot be left unmentioned.

Saleswoman

NORMA SHEARER who has the role of a traveling saleswoman in "The Latest from Paris" now being screened at the California Theatre.

The settings, designed by Horace Jackson, stand by themselves as does the picture. There is nothing with which to compare them. Beautiful, stately, slightly impressionistic and always in the mood of the scene, they reflect genuine artistry and great imagination.

Maria Corda, an Hungarian actress, brought to this country for the role, takes her place immediately among the foremost screen luminaries, and Lewis Stone, as Menelaos, adds another feather to a cap already well stocked with them. Ricardo Cortez, as Paris; George Fawcett, as Eleonora and Alice White, as Ad-raste, to say nothing of numerous other players, give performances of smoothness and understanding.

NEW POTTERY TO BEGIN PRODUCTION TOMORROW

BUILDING FOR POTTERS INC. IS COMPLETED

Manufacturing of products at the new plant of Potters, Inc. in El Cerrito will start tomorrow or Saturday, according to W. A. Potter, head of the new firm, who announced yesterday that all is in readiness for production.

The new building which is 50 by 100 feet, located on a spur track to facilitate shipments has been under construction for the past three months. It contains in addition to the manufacturing quarters, consisting of kilns, workshop and clay rooms, mould rooms, office space and warehouse.

The structure is built of hollow tile and so designed that a second story can be added when production warrants.

Orders for products have already been received and more are expected within the next few weeks.

"At the start, we will operate on a small scale," declared Potter, "as it will take time to build up. There is sufficient demand for products such as we will manufacture and as we become known our production will increase."

Twelve men and two women will comprise the force at the start.

The enterprise will be confined to the manufacture of industrial porcelain, and does not invade the field of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company. The new undertaking consists of porcelain articles for chemists, factories, electrical uses and for drug stores and the products will be handled by jobbers.

The new undertaking is interesting in that three of the owners, Wm. A. Potter, Walter Banner and George Wood, are born pottery workers, having inherited the art in their native land, where their ancestors as well as themselves grew up in pottery districts in England, famous the world over. They had been employed in the initial enterprises that got their start in Richmond, the Western States and Pacific companies that were later taken over by the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, with a capital of some $40,000, and now the largest plant in the world. Potter was the superintendent for many years under the old regime. The fourth member Mr. Alderman, will be a useful adjunct to the firm.

The meeting will be held in the south room of the Hotel Oakland and will be open to the public. It has been announced by Horace H. Breed, chairman of the invitations committee.

Representatives of chamber of commerce, real estate boards and improvement clubs and associations from the principal cities in the two counties will attend the meeting.

Hollywood Fashions Are Severe In Simplicity

(By Universal Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 29.—Simplicity to the point of severity! That is fashion's mandate of the season in Hollywood. The note of simplicity is sophisticated rather than girlish. Bouffant types for afternoon and evening wear are not as popular in Hollywood as they were last season. The form fitting gown reigns supreme.

Greta Garbo recently created something of a sensation by appearing at an evening affair in a appear-fitting gown of gray panne velvet. The skirt was almost ankle length with a slight flare around the bottom. The only touch of trimming was the high standing collar of silver lace. This is an individual fad always affected by Miss Garbo. No jewels were worn.

Real lace collar and cuffs are the only decorations on one of the gowns in Dorothy Sebastian's wardrobe. The frock, severely tailored, is of heavy black flat crepe. The only note of brilliance in the costume was the rather sensationally large rhinestone pin stuck through the crown of the black velvet hat.

Even in millinery is the note of severity felt. The turban is by far the most popular type. Norman Shearer wears this with great effect. One of the most interesting of her collection is a crushed felt turban in beige without trimming of any sort.

Spring Lingerie Follows The Lines Of Outer Garments

Although fashion has decreed a wider and longer silhouette this season, brevity seems to be the essence of the spring lingerie mode.

In practically every other detail, however, the mode of outer dress is followed. For skirts cut with godets in the front, there are underthings that follow the same line. For frocks that gather their fullness at one side there is a combination following the same idea. And for the dinner back décolletage there are many clever artifices through which the accompanying lingerie become invisible.

PYTHIAN SISTERS MEET TODAY

Mrs. R. Foudy, 733 Forty-fourth street, Oakland, will entertain the members of the Contra Costa temple No. 113 of Pythian sisters this afternoon. Those who plan to attend are requested to meet with Mrs. Barbara Opman at 262 Sixteenth street at 12:30 tomorrow. A social time will be spent after an afternoon of sewing.

W. B. A. TO MEET TOMORROW AFTERNOON

There will be a special meeting of the W. B. A. at 1:30 Friday afternoon and all the officers of the W. B. A. are requested to be present. The meeting will be at Memorial Hall.

Santa Clara—Work of improving water distribution system here will begin shortly.

Kid Takes The Lead In Glove Fashions

Although permitting great variety in most directions this season fashion allows little latitude in the matter of gloves. It is to be really smart. Kid decidedly holds the spotlight both in the plain slip-on and with narrow reversible cuffs. Alexandrine of Paris is one of the glove makers who favors the very narrow cuff with embroideries in raffish braid and chenille. But with the more intricate silhouette and use of several materials in most of the spring clothes, the simple slip-on with plain or scalloped edge seems in the best taste.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Wesley Methodist Church will hold a Japanese Tea at the church parlors this afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members are asked to be present.

SIMPLE STYLES WINS FAVOR OF PARIS DECREES

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, Feb. 29.—The "hysteria" of post-war fashions, mirroring disturbed moral standards, has yielded to simpler expressions of femininity and modesty. This is the consensus of opinion among a number of leading couturiers in Paris who commented today on the Lenten utterance against immodest dress.

"Enlightened conservatism" has become a dominating note in the styles of today, according to world famous creators of styles—a conservatism which recognizes that the modern craving for self-expression in dress can be had with out violating decency and taste.

Longer dresses are being worn and there is less flaunting of sex appeal and extreme display of body.

"There is no question that lowered moral standards resulted during the war when dresses were shortened," said Jacques Worth. "Men were scarce and women were obliged to vie with each other in attractiveness. Extreme styles followed."

"These conditions are changed and modesty has become the watchword."

"I never did advocate dresses above the knees," said Jean, "and fortunately the trend is now down ward."

Captain Molyneux sees a saner expression of femininity in the added richness and originality of colors used in the present day styles. Yvonne Davidson, wife of the famous American sculptor, Joe Davidson, and herself a prominent dressmaker, said:

"Styles cannot go back one hundred years, since we must recognize the needs of the present day. Women will not abandon sport styles since it is the one insignia of their new found freedom. But the modern trend in styles can be seen in the tendency of women to let their hair as well as their skirts grow long."

For the slender person who can afford to wear horizontal stripes, the frock shown above is very fetching and youthful. The skirt is of black satin, pleated all around and the striped blouse is of red and white. Note the smart little collar, cuffs and pocket ornaments fashioned of white grosgrain ribbon edged with the red.

It is worn by Marceline Day, charming little Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, in "The Big City."

RICHMOND Y. L. I. MEETS TONIGHT

Richmond Y. L. I. will meet at eight o'clock tonight in Memorial Hall, with president Irene Carey presiding.

Be Kind To Animals Week To Be Held April 15 To 21

Members of humane societies throughout the United States are preparing for the observance of Humane Sunday, April 15, and Be Kind To Animals Anniversary, April 16, to 21. Committees have been named in each city and the campaign is well under way to focus public attention upon humane work during that time.

Matthew McCurrie, secretary of the State Humane association of California, yesterday made an appeal to clergymen of all denominations in the state to preach sermons on the subject of kindness to animals on Sunday, April 15, and announced that material for the preparation of sermons would be furnished by the State Humane Association of California to any clergymen upon receipt of a postcard at its office in San Francisco.

The movement to observe one week each year as Be Kind To Animals Anniversary is fostered by the American Association, the national federation of humane societies, at Albany, New York and the association is making unusual efforts to have the celebration universal this year.

The committee for California is composed of thirty-two members each of whom is directing the work in their locality. All are anxious to communicate with any one willing to help in the work.

The committee members are: Matthew McCurrie, San Francisco; Mrs. M. E. Hanlon, Chico; Mrs. W. R. Chesley, Colusa; Mrs. Ellen K. Everett, Escondido; Mrs. Warren McIntire, Los Angeles; K. Wakeling, Los Angeles; Mrs. Frederick A. Johnson, Long Beach; Miss E. H. Tompkins, San Anselmo; Mrs. L. J. Dobbins, Monterey; Walter Osborn, Oakland; Miss Olive Cramm, Petaluma; Mrs. A. D. Fur Scarfs Appear In Pastel Tints

Furs, which used to be put carefully away in camphor at the first sign of spring, have become an almost indispensable part of our warm weather wardrobe. So flattering is the silky softness of a choice animal pelt thrown about the shoulders so much grace and elegance does it lend to the tout ensemble, that women refuse to relinquish it even under the torrid sun of summer.

Moral For Autoists. Don't Carry A Rug If You Carry Rum

Whisky squeezed out of the floor mat of an automobile was responsible for the plea of 'guilty' entered by Claude Hamilton when he was arraigned in the district court on a charge of 'illegal possession.' He was sentenced to $500 fine and sixty days in the Cheyenne, Wyo., jail.

Hamilton, who was suspected of having whisky in his car, fled when approached by officers. A speedy race between his car and that of the officers through the city streets ensued. When Hamilton's machine was finally overtaken it was found to contain several bottles, but there was liquor in none of them. The floor mat of the car was sopping wet, however. Officers wrung out the floor and found it to be whisky.

BLOSSOMS OF CRYSTALS ARE FAVORED MODE

If flowers are not as much worn this spring as formerly, it is only because some other decoration occupies the spot where once a flower blossomed. What with bows and scarves, and drapes and ribbons, not to mention costume jewels worn on hip and shoulder, what is a poor flower to do?

Where the design of the dress leaves a place for one, however, flowers are just as much desired as ever and foremost of these are in charm and importance in the crystal spray or boutonniere. Introduced a year ago, they have taken root in friendly soil and are blossoming this year in greater beauty and variety than ever. They come in all one color, as delicate pink, blue, or mauve, or in varied colors, each blossom in the bouquet being a different shade. They are often found in white or frosted crystal combined with rhinestones. The latter are more appropriate for the afternoon or evening frock.

The shoulder flower of velvet or chiffon still holds its own, and will probably continue to do so in spite of innovations. But with the greater feminine trend of the frock the flower has dwindled in importance, and no longer flaunts its floating streamers in the breeze. It is more modest in size and more tailored in appearance, but as beautiful as ever.

Sport Frocks Achieve New Smartness Through Use Of Greater Diversity

Marceline Day

Dorothy Sebastian

Marceline Day

There was a time when the sport frock, fashioned of plain jersey or some other simple woolen or silk fabric. Today it can be fashioned of almost anything and everything which has made its vogue so popular. We have even seen it developed this past season of such formerly dressy materials as sheer transparent velvets, which were dotted, speckled and printed to achieve new beauty of coloring and design—indeed, a revolutionary idea in the sport mode!

Even more varied in materials are the new sport frocks they are showing for spring. To the homespun and tweeds, favorites of the past season, have been added the softest of angora jerseys and fancy woolsens. Many of these are often combined or patterned in geometric style, thus achieving further variety of fabric.

The modern homespun frock we are showing, worn by Marceline Day, as the heroine of "The Big City," Lon Chaney's forthcoming Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, is a far cry from the old-fashioned homespun our grandmothers wore. It was a three-tiered skirt edged in dark brown with collar and cuffs of white linen edged with brown.

The sweater and skirt outfit shown above is typical of what the smart women will wear at country clubs. The blouse is of gray angora jersey trimmed with stripes in three shades of red. The skirt is black and the scarf is of a darker shade of gray, fringed at the end. It is worn by Dorothy Sebastian, who will be seen shortly in "Wyoming" opposite Tim McCoy.

For practical sport wear the brushed wool costume Marceline Day wears for golfing is extremely good. It is a two-piece model with the blouse striped with peasant colors. A brown leather belt is worn with the frock.

March 7—Same as above holding out.

March 9, 10—Fair over the coast and the interior, but rain in southern Alaska and Arizona.

March 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16—Successive disturbances invading the central and northern coast, but appearing only as one large and deep depression; smart south winds over land and sea; in all likelihood, the rain will be generous over the coast and the interior, especially from southern Oregon to the northward and far down to the southward, including southern California, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Utah and New Mexico.

March 17, 18—Cloudy, with scattered sprinkles and a measure of sunshine.

March 19—Clearing and mostly fair.

March 20—Fair with some cloudiness; approach of a new disturbance.

March 21—Subject to light rain from San Francisco to the northward.

March 22, 23—Largely fair; warm in the sunshine and cold at night, with ominous frosts.

March 24—New disturbance coming on; fair from San Francisco to the southward; rain from San Francisco to Jubba.

March 25, 26—Fair; down our way; warm in the sunshine and light frosts at night.

March 27—New oceanic depression setting fast on land, with promise of generous rains over practically the whole coast, no exception southern California and light south winds rising to brisk.

Metal Ornaments Deck Spring Hats

Many of the smartest ornaments on spring millinery are made of metal in a combination of several colors, frequently a black, metal, platinum and copper. They are usually combined into geometrical designs, or may take the form of conventionalized birds and animals. One amusing variation is a scene made up of separate motifs meant to be set along the ribbon of a hat, composed of a path and trees. Striking buckles, very modernistic in design will be used, as well as daring hatpins and swinging pendants. The latter will be made of metal and enamel, rather than jeweled as were those of last year.

America Is Slipping As World's Style Center

By EDWARD B. RUTENBERG
Universal Service Fashion Expert
NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—The American of the well dressed type is rapidly becoming international in his dress and therefore nothing is more common than to see people with a few dollars at their disposal rush excitedly back and forth from Europe, the women to buy clothes in Paris, the men to do a little shopping in London.

Hats and clothes from London are now quite the rage among the men just as frocks from Paris distinguish the garb of the women. The tired business man who got that way from frantic pursuit of nothing in particular looks more English than the English, while his wife has become more Parisian than the Parisienne.

Every day in every-way America's prospect of becoming a style center for the world is slipping away.

Buyers Are Tourists

American buyers of men's ready-to-wear are among the most persistent tourists. Merchants feel that unless they go to London at least a couple of times a year that their lives are wasted.

When a merchant handling American-made clothing or American series goes abroad he comes back looking a cross between Piccadilly and Broadway. Some of the "best dressed Englishmen" encountered on Broadway and Fifth Avenue today speak in the vernacular of the lower East Side, the nasal twang of New England or the drawl of the Western main streets. The peculiar, if harmless deception thus created causes a great deal of amusement. The transatlantic complex is becoming part of the American existence due to the fact that half the people do not seem to know where they belong in the scheme of things. Cultivated agents, results of a couple of European expeditions, are so common that people no longer pay any particular attention to them. And so it goes with men's styles. After the merchant of his understudy has brought back an outfit of London clothes following a trip to the English markets, they begin to talk to their customers in wild ravings.

Germ Take Hold

Soon the germ takes hold, the dealer tries to change his stock to meet any and all demands and the customers, not knowing what it is all about, soon begin to show the effects of being badly man-handled. The European after a few months of soporific in America strives to wear clothes that will make him look American.

This is especially true of the Latin races, who wish to be known as Americans first and native sons only when they have made their first million and gone home to spend it.

The last man to succumb to American styles is the Englishman, but his eccentricities are soon "killed" out of him. He begins to grasp the idea that an American's conception of the British has been gleaned from the music comedy and that it does not necessarily help his business progress to carry on the delusion. It is said that the American takes his notions in dress from Europe and that Europe takes its impressions from America. All of which leads to a ludicrous comedy of errors.

SHOES OF KID

There is little that is new in shoe shapes this spring, the model with slender straps and high, spike heels, still holding the center of the stage.

In materials kid has the strongest following among fashion authorities, the preferred color being beige or some shade verging on it. "Honey beige," which is almost a parchment, and "white jade," a lovely off-white tone are favored shades, as they harmonize with nearly everything.

Gray and dark blue, kid prominently show interesting developments as the summer advances. The three shades sponsored by the Garment Retailers of America in their semi-annual fashion show were beige, gray independent blue (another name for navy), and lake blue (one of the new green-blues bordering on turquoise). Stroller tan and maroon glaze kid are attractive for sports and the more tailored street wear. Pure white will be little worn, even with all-white costumes, "white jade" having taken its place, except for active sports, where white buckskin still reigns.

Not only will light colored footwear lead the mode for spring, but kid has been stressed as the supreme leather for this season's shoes. What silk is to the costume, kid is to the smart shoe, says Paris, and indeed no other material seems quite so suitable to go with fluttery chiffons and sheer printed silks.

Shoes will continue to be made of contrasting materials or two tones of one material. Reptile is no longer used to fashion the whole shoe, but is still smart for trimming. Paris is showing satin for evening wear only, never for street wear. This applies to velvet also. Heels, except for active sports are slightly higher, and the vamp a trifle shorter with a slightly more rounded toe. Otherwise there is no change to speak of in the general outline.

The fine woven linen shoes, in delicate colors will still be worn, as they wear well and clean easily. They have almost the appearance of suede. The woven straw slippers in bright colors, introduced last year, are so amusing and attractive that they will probably be seen again this summer, especially at seaside resorts.

Lace Frock Now Important Part Of
New Mode, Found Also In Ensembles

LACE is coming into its own again. In almost every smart wardrobe today there are at least one or two lace frocks, one for afternoon and one for evening, to wear when one feels in the mood for something a little more feminine than one has been wearing. At a smart restaurant in Paris recently, it was noted that the black lace dinner frock suddenly achieved first importance in fashion from the fact that it was worn by most of the smartest figures there. With the decided return of femininity in style today, this means of course a greater use of lace not only as a principal, but also as an accessory in the Spring dress group.

In many instances the lace frock achieves unusual chic through its coloring, since the most delicate of the new laces are dyed in the fashionable shades of the moment. Bright green, varied shades of blue, pale pink, beige and black, besides the smart silver and gold metallic laces, are much in evidence among the newer lace frocks.

One of the latest interpretations of lace in fashion is through the ensemble idea. This denotes the extensive use of lace in making of this delicate fabric.

In the above layout we are depicting the varied types of lace frocks which are today worn by smart women.

From the luncheon hour on, the two-piece frock sketched at the left is particularly appropriate since it combines softness and charm with a sport-like simplicity of line. The blouse is of black crepe lace, cut with the present day up-in-front movement to add grace and subtlety. The skirt of black chiffon is finely pleated. One of the smartest ensembles for evening wear, which was seen at Palm Beach, is the lace cape ensemble we are showing. It is of silver metallic lace, with the wrap scalloped at the skirt and at the bottom of the three-quarter cape. This type of ensemble is expected to be quite a favorite to wear this Summer at fashionable resorts.

Odd Style Ideas For Men
Seen In Fashionable Inns

By EDWARD RUTTENBER
NEW YORK, March 2.—The fashion center of New York moves with the well-garbed mob and so fickle are the fortunes that the style mecca may be located in one place today and another tomorrow. At the present moment society on what passes for society, oscillates from one spick span new hotel to another.

The group of rather elaborate taverns in and around the Plaza, at 59th street and Fifth Avenue, now attract the well-to-do, the professional pleasure seekers and the svelte and the suave who live more or less by their wits.

Poor little rich girls and worthy young men who must make good marriages or expire are usually present and accounted for between the hours of 4 and 6 in the afternoon, not to mention that middle-aged Wall Street financiers and middle-aged Lotharios with several chins in front and ample rolls of fat where the backs of their necks should be.

It might be mentioned that some odd little eccentricities in masculine dress may be observed in this quarter of New York, many of which might be successfully taken up by men who are not averse to featuring the unusual. A few of these little departures might be worthy of passing mention. For the first time on any social stage in America I saw the double-breasted cutaway coat one afternoon during the "tea hour." Experts tell me that is a revival of a very old style. The cutaway should not be confused with the old Prince Albert, which is today pretty well confined to country politicians, 4th of July orators and pall-bearers.

Some of the younger men are wearing slanting pockets in their trousers and soon we may behold once more the old-fashioned loose change catches that ran across the tops of the pantaloons.

Bow neckties are worn again in narrow shapes, both with roll collars and wing models. The restoration of the old bow also strings back to memory the Fifth Avenue of other days. In fashion there is apparently nothing new under the sun.

As I said before, the fashionable hotels are the place to see the styles today and the men encountered in such resorts give almost as much attention to detail as the women.

Neutral Shades
Decreed For Spring Hose

Having run the gamut of all the colors in the rainbow for several seasons, hosiery for spring and summer has settled down to a few shades, with beige leading. Little pure white will be worn, even with the all white frock or ensemble. Pure white does not harmonize with the new white pale kid already becoming so fashionable, and so a light, natural beige takes its place. The spring hosiery colors all tend towards the beige tone and may be slightly yellow or slightly rose. To harmonize with the season's undecided dusty tones in all colors, the hosiery shades are also a bit undecided and dusty or grayed.

This is rather a relief from the strong pinks, yellows and tans, and the hard grays that have called undue attention to feminine legs for several seasons.

For sport the sheer hose have firmly established themselves, and are much smarter than silk when worn with tweeds and wool sports clothes. The smart colors are the same as for silk hosiery.

For evening wear the nude or flesh colored hose are still in vogue.

There is no special news in this to the young woman who has learned to shop the "Penney way." MAN'S GARDEN OF CURSES

When an American calls a man a name, nobody is in doubt as to what the epithet means. We are not indirect in our application of vile terms. Our vocabulary is not so wide or picturesque as that of the Frenchman, Englishman or German, but it is usually adequate. Can anybody who attends a Boston council meeting misunderstand the significance of a gentleman's remarks of a personal nature?

It is not thus in Germany. Suits for damages for being called bad names have become so numerous in Berlin that a special court of justice has been set up to deal with cases of verbal assault, the plaintiffs being those who become inarticulate with rage early in the scrimmage, while their adversaries continue voluble and vituperative.

It is particularly interesting to learn that the Berliner, like the London fishwife who "blew up" when she was called a parallelepipedon, is most incensed when he is called something he doesn't know the meaning of. Recently a shoemaker's wife was hailed into court for calling the saloonkeeper next door an albatross. Answering an inquiry from the bench he admitted he did not know what an albatross was, "but it was something highly improper or she would not have used the word." He had gathered that much from the tone of the lady when she gave voice to it.

Inquiring further the court was astonished to find that the lady herself, when she called her neighbor an albatross was a little at sea. "Your honor," said she "it is a striped horse." The word sounded good, so she let it fly, and evidently accomplished the desired result of making the gentleman see red.—Boston Herald.

Eight nations have just remitted $96,000,000 to Uncle Sam on their war debts. It's too bad wars don't have to be fought on a cash basis. Then there wouldn't be so many wars.

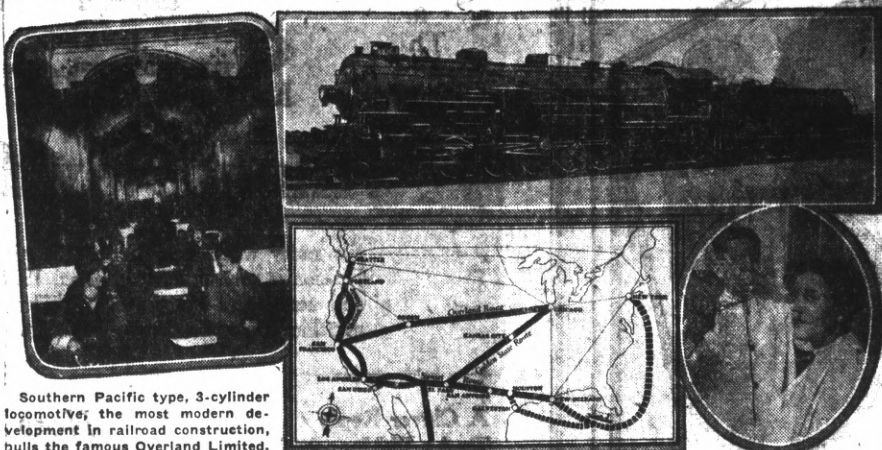

Bolsheviks have been advised in Russia to beware of American workers because they constitute an industrial aristocracy. Of course if the American standard of living was universal the communist leaders would be out of a job.

The gentleman who insists that "all suffering is in the mind" never ran his toe into the end of the chair rocker as he galloped from the bed to answer the telephone call for a wrong number.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Relations will improve as soon as the average American stops feeling that to him Latin American is all Greek.

We have a suspicion that some time Russia is going to learn to its cost that yellow is not a racial characteristic of the Chinese.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

TRAIN TIME SLASHED TO EAST

Southern Pacific type, 3-cylinder locomotives, the most modern development in railroad construction, pulls the famous Overland Limited. The running time of the Overland Limited from San Francisco to Chicago will again be reduced effective March 4.

TIME will again be slashed between the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts beginning March 4.

A year ago Southern Pacific company reduced the schedule of the San Francisco Overland Limited, which operates between San Francisco and Chicago, from 63 to 63 hours.

Now comes the announcement by F. S. McGinnis, passenger traffic manager for the company, that the eastbound Overland Limited will make the journey in 61 hours and 15 minutes, thus providing an additional full business day at Chicago. Under the new arrangement the Overland Limited eastbound and westbound arrive at approximately the same time.

In making the announcement McGinnis called attention to the important improvements made by western railroads, particularly Southern Pacific, in their passenger service in the last two years.

"During the past two years Southern Pacific spent more than $4,300,000 in purchasing new passenger train equipment for use on Pacific Lines," said McGinnis. "New type Pullman cars with many features not heretofore included in railroad architecture are being added to the Overland Limited at the present time. This is now one of the finest in the country."

During the past year Southern Pacific has entirely changed the equipment of the Sunset Limited which operates between San Francisco and New Orleans. The equipment on that route now includes new Pullmans, new club, observation and dining cars, shower baths, and valet service, barber and ladies' maid. On the Sunset route from New York to New Orleans, the new passenger steamer "Dixie" has been added. An additional train to Chicago, the "Gold Coast Limited," with new Pullmans, dining cars, club and observation cars, is also among the recent improvements.

One of the notable achievements in the 1927 record of western transportation was the completion of the new Cascade Line in Oregon which provides an alternate route through a scenic region opened for the first time. This route, over which the new Cascade operates, was constructed at a cost of $28,000,000. The Cascade makes the trip between San Francisco and Portland in 23 hours and consists of the same grade of equipment as the Overland Limited and the Golden State Limited.

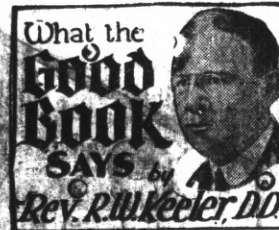

Trains over the new Cascade line carry through Pullman cars to Tacoma and Seattle. In pleasant weather open-top observation cars are operated through the scenic parts of the line. A feature of the institution of this new line was the addition of an all-coach train between San Francisco and Portland.

Among other improvements made by Southern Pacific during the past year was the placing of bedroom cars and light supper refreshment service on the Lark, favored train between San Francisco and Los Angeles. New coaches of an unusually comfortable type have been added to the crack Daylight which makes the scenic non-stop trip over the Coast route between San Francisco and Los Angeles in 12 hours. Fast service to Sacramento with 12 trains daily is among the improvements in train facilities.

In its peninsula service Southern Pacific now operates 32 trains throughout the day to San Jose and points. Another innovation this year was the institution of through Pullman service to Yosemite by way of Merced and over the new route of the Yosemite Valley railroad to El Portal. A year ago Southern Pacific instituted through Pullman service to Lake Tahoe.

Another train added to Southern Pacific's service during the past year is the San Joaquin, a new daylight limited which operates between San Francisco and Los Angeles by way of the San Joaquin Valley.

MOUNTAIN STREAM FISHING

HIS FAVORITE SPORT AT 82

In Larimer county, where rivers and lakes provide the sportsman with fishing such as is available in few other Western localities, no one is awaiting the opening of the 1928 fishing season with more impatience than is A. C. Welliver of Fort Collins, Col., 82-year-old fishing enthusiast.

Despite his age, Mr. Welliver retains his interest in the sport, and his rugged health permits him enjoyment of his favorite pastime at an age when most men would find no pleasure in it. He has some of his relatives take him by automobile to the Cache La Poudre river or to one of the many lakes in the country, and there he will spend an entire day fishing returning to his home in the evening when members of his family drive out for him.

"THE JAZZ SINGER," starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. picture. This novel is based upon the play by Samson Raphaelis.

SYNOPSIS
Cantor Rabinowitz, who has trained his son, Jackie, to be a Cantor, and the boy singing ragtime in a beer garden. He whips the child and Jackie runs away. Ten years elapse. Jackie, now Jack Robin, obtains a part in a New York musical show through Mary Dale, a dancer. He returns home, but when his father learns that he is a jazz singer, he drives him out. At dress rehearsal, the backer of the show, withdraws his money because of his jealousy of Mary's love for Jack. Yudelzon, the Cantor's friend, arrives at the theatre with a message from Jack's mother.

"Oh, I see," Jack looked at Mary and laughed. "That's all right, Yudelzon. This is Miss Mary Dale, Mr. Yudelzon," he introduced the two. "Miss Dale is the leading lady in this show."

"How do you do, Mr. Yudelzon," Mary shook hands with the Jeweler. "It's a pleasure I should meet you," Yudelzon clasped Mary's hand gravely, and looked sideways at Jack. So this was the girl about whom Jackie had written. This was the one who had got him his job on the stage. But this was no Jenny Levi—this was a real "shiksa." He looked around him a little overcome. Chorus girls pattered about, their bare legs gleaming in the shadows of the wings. He stared, fascinated at all these strange sights—so fascinated that he was almost forgetting his message.

"Mr. Yudelzon is an old friend of my family," Jack was explaining

"I should like to hear very much," Mr. Yudelzon said. "I'll come down to the stage some time if I may know you want to talk to me."

"I'll run along," he smiled and set out her hand to Yudelzon. "By the way, it's all right, I've heard of you. You're a famous personage." He said, "Cantor," Yudelzon was ex on the virtues of his friend best by any synagogue. He

JEWELRY IS ESSENTIAL TO SMART STYLE

Crystal is the temporary key of modern jewelry.

French master designers are using it in a multiplicity of forms; for chains and pendants, rings, earrings and the many brooch forms that are such an important part of modern jewelry.

A lovely and frequently seen chain of strung crystal beads supports a large crystal ring from which a pear-shaped Crystal "pearl" is suspended. Chain and large ring are joined by small crystal slides, the pendant giving the effect of being carved from a single piece of crystal.

Crystal rings for both men and women are shown in many forms. Mountings of onyx and gems are frequent. Fouquet has a lady's crystal ring with a round topaz surrounded by small diamonds and an oblong topaz set in a thin line of jade on crystal. Another big house shows an emerald set in a ring of jade. The majority of such rings, however, are plain crystal with a square or circle onyx set in them. Some have carvings instead of settings. One of the prettiest ideas for watch-pendants recently developed is the crystal ring suspended from a slender black silk cord. It has jeweled slides for the cord and a small diamond encrusted watch which is meant to be worn with the open face next to the individual.

Crystal circlelets are the newest earring form and are much seen, not only as earrings, but also as ornaments sewed to the new cap-fitting spring hats.

Hat jewelry becomes more and more elaborate. Women are making the widest use of the new brooches of ultra-modern design on their hats. On a simple close-fitting black felt hat it is not unusual to see brooches set with amethysts, topaz, aquamarine or jade. These pins are large and an integral part of the milliner's design. Milliners and jewelers are working as closely in conjunction as dressmakers and jewelers.

An amusing novelty in introduced by a Parisian jeweler is a dinner ring with detachable centre stone which can be changed to match the wearer's gown. The colored stone is affixed in a square border setting of small diamonds. Earrings are larger and droopier than ever. They must match the bracelet and necklace. In fact, matching sets are the thing in costume jewelry, the same colors and motifs being used in all pieces worn together.

High Priced Motors Hurt Men's Apparel Industries

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—The usual number of men with 4-cylinder incomes have been moving 6-cylinder cars since the recent Automobile Show in New York. Stylists contend that their greatest foe is the motor-car and the men's apparel industries are compelled to speed up their style departments in order to overcome the effect of the new models brought out to entice the shekels from consumer pocket-books. Designers of clothing in Chicago, New York, Baltimore and other markets declare that they might as well be in the women's wear markets so often are they compelled to produce the new and bizarre to interest the men. Cars are bright as to upholstery and the men's wear, fashion pace makers are working overtime to rob the opposition.

Universal learns in conversation with manufacturers of skirts and neckwear that the sources of style inspiration have been drained to the bottom and that all manner of subjects are being reviewed and studied in order to produce fashions that cannot fail. With more cumbersome markets to control the clothing manufacturers admit that they have their sleepless nights.

"There is nothing that can compare with the automobile craze unless it is the bicycle mania of years ago," remarked a Rochester clothing designer. "The man who once owned a $35 'bike' now rides around in a $2,000 car. Style is being injected in the men's markets with a greased needle in the hope that the solution can be made strong enough to interest the consumers. Men not frequently buy good clothes for their women and neglect themselves. After they have acquired an automobile and undertaken its upkeep, the problem of domestic overhead becomes acute. Style in men's apparel is a forced put and if it had not been for the motor car the allied industries would be practically in the same position they were 25 years ago. Competition from automobile designers has fired the imaginations of the men's wear stylists and produced an unprecedented situation. The men respond to color in clothes and color in motor-cars and the situation revolves around the activities of rival color blenders, all busy working out new ideas to amuse the grown-up children.

"In New York the January cloth and overcoat sales crashed up against the Automobile Show, with the result that the volume of garments sold was considerably cut down. The clothiers could not compete because their styles must necessarily be limited and not too bizarre. On the other hand it is understood that the neckwear and shirt men, with their blazing productions, took a good share of the January business. Men's apparel business is exciting if it is not necessary prosperous these days."

Living Models Display Styles

The Spring Fashion show at Albert's Inc. was viewed by a large throng of interested spectators and shoppers yesterday. Living models came down the aisles of the store looking their loveliest in the colorful styles of the new season. Evening gowns of taffeta in tiers, panniers, with skirts longer in back than in front, printed frocks in the basque effect with large hats and small hats in colors to match were displayed to best advantage by the models. Shimmering crystal and rhinestone ornaments added to the brilliant effect of these exquisite creations. Sport costumes, the inspirations of design artists were shown. A charming ensemble of navy blue silk crepe trimmed in scarlet was the cynosure of all eyes. A black and white sport costume of wool tweed attracted much attention, also. Black silk coats for evening, trimmed in light and furs caught the eye and held the interest of all. Tan Kasba coats and tweed coats in tan and grey vied for popular favor. Slender lines was the keynote in the style of the coats and ensembles, while the evening gowns for the slender miss and matron had a tendency toward the opposite effect.

EDDIE DAMPIER, GENE CLINE TO FIGHT TONIGHT

"Gentleman" Gene Cline, one of Oakland's best looking fighters in the ring, says that he is the young man with his ducks cocked in the adjoining picture. He is scheduled to do a "punch and dance" act with Eddie Dampier of San Jose in an eight-round main event tomorrow night at Joe Rossi's athletic pavilion in El Cerrito.

Cline has met practically every welterweight and middleweight of parts on the Pacific Coast during his varied career as a ringster, and should prove a crafty foe for the San Jose boy. Among the foemen Cline has faced are numbered "Oakland" Jimmy Duffy, once premier welterweight of the coast, and one of the contenders for the world's title, "Chick" Roach of Vallejo, and "Tiger" Bob Robinson, colored, of Denver.

In young Dampier, Cline is facing a sensational youngster who has victories over Buddy Saunders, Jack Dempsey's colored protegee, and Pete Meyers, to his credit. Dampier has shown favorably at El Cerrito on several occasions.

K. O. Clyde Hendricks, Tonopah, Nevada, miner, will tread the hump arena in an eight-round semi with George Maty, who also carries a kayo punch in his right hand. Maty recently staged a great fight against "Tiger" Bob Robinson, gaining a draw verdict, while Hendricks was awarded a similar decision in an uphill battle with "Chick" Roach of Vallejo two weeks ago.

Joe Lamas, El Cerrito pride, will tackle Chitney Miller, colored, of Oakland, in a six round special event, which is expected to establish Lamas' status as a real fighter. The colored fighter is going great guns at the present time and should make things interesting for Lamas, who has won his last three fights via the kayo route.

Manuel Vasquez will tackle Joe Terris in a four round prelin, and will be out for his nineteenth straight win without a defeat, while Irwin Olson, conqueror of Cliff Hotsinger of El Cerrito, meets Jimmy Reeves of Oakland in the curtain.

Thirty rounds of boxing are in prospect.

Low Birth Rate During January

Birth certificates filed at the City Health Department during the month of February totaled only 13, seven girls and six boys, according to the report of the department yesterday. This is a low total when compared to the number of 40 filed during the month of January.

March 5 is the closing date for the filing of certificates with the department and it is expected that other births will be reported before the final closing date.

Richmond Y. L. I. Defeats Bankers

Richmond Y. L. I. basketball team won a close game from the girls of the American Trust Co. when they met on the courts of the Roosevelt Junior High school. The score was 12 to 10.

Miss Helen Maloney was the star of the contest and was assisted by Miss Cecelia Desmond in the basket, shooting for the Richmond girls. As the game was a benefit affair, it was decided to hold another meet here next week.

W. Mainwarring Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for the late William Croma Mainwarring who passed away while at work at the San Pablo Pottery plant Tuesday, will be held from the parlors of Bert Curry Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment will be made in Sunset View cemetery. Richmond Aerie of Eagles No. 354 will have charge of the services.

The deceased was 50 years of age, a native of Illinois, and had lived in California for the past 25 years. His home was at 335 Nevins avenue.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Millie Mainwarring, the following stepchildren: Carl T. Schack, R. S. Schack, and Mrs. Mildred Turner, all of Richmond, and Elmer Schack, Modesto, his mother, Mrs. Jane Bowlich, a brother John Mainwarring, a sister Mrs. George Bowlich, and a sister Mrs. Fred Cramer all of Richmond.

Besides the Point Richmond Aerie of Eagles, the deceased was a member of the Stationery Engineers of Oakland. His death resulted in an unusual manner and it has not been determined whether he died from natural causes or the result of a fall.

Un-Naturalized Vets Urged to File Data

Ex-soldiers of the United States who have not yet been naturalized may take advantage of the "soldier act" of 1926 according to a reminder of by Paul Armstrong, district director of naturalization with headquarters at San Francisco. Exemptions of many kinds are given to soldiers under this act.

Soldiers, who are still aliens will have to file their applications in order to come under the act, which passed May 26, 1926, provided that all soldiers wishing to take advantage of the provision must make application by May 26, 1928.

A preliminary examination by a representative of the naturalization service is required before the application is filed, and in order to do this all applicants should get in touch with the district director at 204 Post Office Building in San Francisco. When the application has been received, Armstrong will endeavor to arrange for the filing of the application with the naturalization of officers.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

JIMMY KELLY DUFFS HIS KELLY TO OLD-TIMERS

Blow away the thick haze of smoke that rises from floor to roof in his place and you will make out the medium figure of Jimmy Kelly of the Hester Street Kellies. Despite the fact Jimmy Kelly is an Italian.

When he was 18 years old he was managing a cabaret for Nigger Mike Salter, the boniface who held forth at 12 Bell Street. A squinty left eye, the souvenir of a gloved thumb that was jabbed into the optic by Jimmy Garuder, reminds you that Kelly was a scrapper. His cabaret on Sullivan Street, the rendezvous for those seeking downtown color, is proof that Jimmy Kelly, at 42, is still enamored of the cabaret racket to which Nigger Mike introduced him.

Kelly, 24 years in the cabaret business, does not think that its methods have changed to any extent.

It's the same racket, the same sort of entertainment. The cover charge is new, but Jessie James used the same rag years ago. Kelly will tell you with disconcerting frankness.

But he will also tell you that the fighters and the fighting game have changed a whole lot.

"Joe Walcott would have licked most of the present day heavyweights," Jimmy avers. "Ketchel couldn't be touched by any modern fighter at 158 pounds; Joe Gans would have made a monkey out of Benny Leonard, and Terry McGovern was the greatest little fighter the division ever knew."

You listen respectfully when Jimmy tells of the old timers. He was supposed to have boxed a prelin on the McGovern-Corbett card at Hartford, Conn., the memorable day on which Terrible Terry was knocked out by the cocky Young Corbett. Mr. Kelly has been around and he has seen things.

"DEMPSEY HEARD LYMAN CROON THERE

At one time or another every celebrity of the stage and screen has been seated at ringside tables in Kelly's place.

Dempsey, before he split with Doc Kearns, was a regular visitor. Winnie Sheehan, Jim Coffroth, Flo Ziegfeld, Al Ben Haggin and Georges Carpentier have been regular patrons.

The Junior Morgan J. O'Brien was in one night. Miss Ellen Mackay was with him.

"That's Irving Berlin over there," O'Brien told Miss Mackay. The young society girl was interested in the celebrity.

So Jimmy Kelly managed the introduction.

Long after the throbbing drums and blaring brasses had quieted Berlin and young O'Brien and Miss Mackay sat at their ringside table chatting of this and that.

A fire broke out a few doors down the street. Miss Mackay, with a yen for fires, saw that blaze with her arms tucked through the arms of Morgan J. O'Brien, Jr., and Irving Berlin. Southampton and the Ghetto provided the escort.

You might think that Berlin, remembering the start of that romance, would return now and then to Jimmy Kelly's place. But he has never been back since that night.

Dempsey, too, never returned after he had split with Kearns. Perhaps he thought that Kelly would side with Kearns. Perhaps Tommy Lyman's crooning melodies aroused memories he would rather forget.

"This racket hasn't changed," Jimmy tells you, "only the cover charge is new."

WHEN TUNNEY SHIED FROM "GLASS" STOMACH

You do not find many good fighters hanging out in cabarets. They may drop in once or twice a year, but they don't make it a practice.

Gene Tunney dropped the explanation while a crowd of us were jammed around a table in the locker room of the La Gorge Club at Miami Beach.

One of the gentlemen asked Tunney if he would take a split of ginger ale.

"No, thanks," said Gene. "Any of those gassy drinks are fatal to a fighter. It gives him a 'glass' stomach faster than anything else. I'd rather drink beer than any of those marble dust drinks."

That is why fighters stay out of night clubs, or why they should, at least.

A "glass" stomach is a dubious recommendation for a fellow, who has to take it in the mid-section.

A NEW FEATHERWEIGHT KING IS CROWNED

The featherweight crown, which has adored the heads of some mighty fighting men of the past, now rests on the curly thatched dome of Tony Canzoneri, and there will be only a few who will deny him the right to wear it. There are bound to be a few who will still string with Bass, for the fight Friday at the Garden was a close one, and a lot of discussion followed the verdict.

However, while there may remain a little doubt about the justice of the decision, it seemed to be a unanimous opinion that it was a whale of a scrap, and that the proper laddies were fighting it out for the championship. Both Canzoneri and Bass are good fighters, and while they may lack the greatness of some of the former title holders, appear to be the class of present-day featherweights, at any rate.

Troop 3 Boy Scouts Enjoy Pantomimes

Pantomimes were presented by several patrols at the meeting held by Troop 3 of the Boy Scouts in Scout hall last night. Four new recruits were admitted to the troop.

George Perna, Lewis Brown, and Lloyd Pearson were given tenderfoot pins. The badges were awarded by C. A. Patterson, former scoutmaster of the troop.

After the business session games were enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, March 7.

Jim Kahn FAIR OR FOUL

Waite Hoyt, Stanley Coveleski and Benny Bengough are on their way to Hot Springs, as the valued representatives at the Southern health resort. They will begin working out seriously on Monday along with the Giant pitchers and catchers and the many other Giant flippers and backstops from a half dozen other major league clubs who are giving the tubs a play this year.

The hot waters ought to do Coveleski and Bengough a lot of good, for both were forced into idleness by stubborn arm ailments that don't improve much in chilly climates.

Getting an extra couple of weeks' conditioning may be the very thing that Bengough needs to get off with the rest of the team at the beginning of the year.

In Hoyt's case, however, this Hot Springs journey may act detrimentally. While he is a big fellow and usually has to work off poundage during the spring training sessions, he isn't carrying so much extra weight that he can stand boiling out at the Springs and the additional weeks of training in Florida.

The Babe found Hot Springs too exciting, and has passed by this form of conditioning ever since he took his epic brodie in 1925. By the time he got through at the Springs, the Babe found he didn't have enough energy left to throw off the flu and other minor ailments which he had until he was really a very sick jasper. Taking the regular course of training in Florida he finds to be the best system, and has certainly proved it by his performances during the past couple of seasons.

Hoyt is almost down to playing weight now, scaling about 175 pounds. He has put in a hard winter's work, in his undertaking business and doesn't need very much strenuous conditioning. However, after his splendid record of last season he is anxious to go out and lead the league again this year, which accounts for his desire to get started early and be in shape for plenty of hard work.

Fights On Rossi's Card

"Gentlemen" GENE CLINE

Waite had some such desires in 1926, and he spent the winter of 1925-26 playing basketball and doing gym work. He reported for spring training weighing less than 175 pounds, the lightest he had been in years.

The result was that he had an in and out season and won only sixteen games in 1926. He laid off during the winter of 1926, reported for hard work last spring and rounded himself into shape through the usual methods. When the season opened, and he beat Lefty Grove in the opening game at the Stadium, he was in fine shape and strong as a bull. As a result he was able to bear the main burden of the Yankee pitching last season.

Many a fighter has left his best rounds in the gymnasium, and pitchers of Hoyt's type run the same danger of leaving many a good game in the training camps.

Junior High Cager Lose to Emery

In the extra period to decide the winner of Roosevelt Junior High ball played in the Roosevelt gym evening, George Miner's boys were unable to shoot the ring basket and had to take short end of the score 11-9. The game was fast throughout and the boys from Emeryville had to play hard to win.

In the 120-pound class, Miner's boys showed the visitors from the Emeryville school how to play basketball and took the game by the score of 15-8.

Players for the Roosevelt 120's were, forwards, Marcus and Bonchetti; center, Rolano; guards, Rogers and Serdick.

For the unlimited Roosevelt boys the lineup was as follows, forwards, Stoddard and Sanfilippo; center, McLean; guard, Browning and Young.

SCHRADER'S SIGNIFICANT SPRING SUPER-SALE!

REASON FOR THE SALE—Conditions in the Furniture market are such that Wholesalers are now selling at the Lowest Price in years. Knowing this we have bought heavily. Our judgment is justified as general furniture prices are already going up. However, our new purchases are coming in, and we need room badly—two carloads of new pieces are being warehoused on our display floors. So rather than wait and sell present stock at our regular low price, we will sacrifice drastically to move this merchandise.

TERMS AND DELIVERY—Our usual liberal terms will apply to items listed in this sale, but as an added inducement for cash, we will make an extra discount of 10 pct. for cash on all prices quoted here. Free delivery to all points within 100 miles. For example, if you buy a bedroom set for $72.50 sale price, your price will be $64.25 for cash and we will deliver to Martinez or Antioch as well.

Crowds View Spring Styles Display In Windows Here

At Abraham of the Fashion. Tan, rose beige, navy blue and the bright green shades predominate. Lakewater blue is also popular, he states. Black coats and tan coats trimmed in butter mole, ermine, fox, fitch and the light airy furs are correct for this season. "And do not forget the bright reds as they are very much in demand."

A stunning two-piece afternoon frock of American beauty red silk crepe romaine was displayed in the window of the up-to-date establishment. The horizontally tucked tunic was trimmed in very lace and hand-made rose of self-material edged in voltex graced the right shoulder. The skirt was knife pleated.

Small hats are in vogue for street wear, the larger hats being worn more for dress occasions, he said.

AT McRACKEN'S

In keeping with the Spring opening now being staged by the merchants of Richmond, W. S. McRacken's men's furnishings store is displaying the latest in spring styles, put out by Hickey-Freeman. Dobbs hats and Florsheim shoes are the other line of goods carried by McRacken's.

Owing to the absence of Wilson Smith, decorator for the company, who has been called east on account of the death of his mother, the window display of the merchant is not as it had been planned.

The feature of the display is a Liandamo topcoat tailored by Hickey-Freeman.

CLINTON SMITH'S

Mayfair corners and panel designs are featured in the Hart Schaffner and Marx new spring suits for men being displayed by Clinton Smith. The new colors shown are Algerian browns, Gran-tan blue and Greyhound in stripe effects and mixtures.

Tans and grays in the lighter shades are stressed in the Knox hats with the snap and roll brims.

Top coats in the latest weaves and colorings will form a prominent part of the window display which will open tomorrow. Accessories, to harmonize with the colorings in suits, will also be displayed. Neckties in striking designs and contrast.

GARFINKLE'S WOMEN'S SHOP

The daytime ensemble is the keynote to Spring fashions for women. Tan predominates and black comes next in popular demand, according to Louis Garfinkle. Wood violet, rose-pink beige and the pastel greens are all good colors, he declared. One attractive two-piece model which he displayed was off rose-pink beige silk crepe embroidered in bead sprays of green and coral.

The skirt was box pleated in front and plaited on the sides. Flowered chiffons, he finds, are extremely popular. Moon blue is a color, particularly suited to certain types for afternoon wear. Tuttle plays a large part in the trimping of evening gowns. An exquisite model on display was of coral pink taffeta in the basque effect. For a very formal evening function there was a yellow and pink printed chiffon elaborately adorned with crystal beads giving an unusual brilliant effect.

Black silk coats trimmed in fur are preferable for evening. One model was of finely tucked black faille trimmed with monkey fur. Small hats of silk and straw combined are good, also felt.

Some large hats are featured and applique and embroidery are used to trim many of the silk hats.

In conclusion, Garfinkle stated that the ensemble was the correct attire, the ensemble from head to foot. That is the hat, coat, dress and all accessories should match. Novelty jewelry is again very much in vogue, with gold slave chains and pearls vying for popular favor. Novelty necklaces of colored stones were also on display.

J. C. PENNEY CO.

A striking model displayed in the window of J. C. Penney and Company was an all-tan wool Kasha cloth ensemble ornamented with a flower of the same material. A two-piece apple green georgette suit on the ensemble order was shown. The waist was of tan georgette trimmed with embroidery of the same color green as the coat. A green velvet rose ornamented the right shoulder of the over jacket. The two-tier skirt was plaited and was ornamented with glass buttons.

Suits in blues, browns and grays in stripes, plaid effects and blends are being shown in Spring styles for men.

A number of interesting shirts in the new broadcloths and ties ranging toward broad stripes in bright colors are being featured. Hats in the new shades of tans and grays have both the snap and roll brims.

BOSLYN SHOP

Mrs. Boslyn of the new Boslyn Shop says that the ensemble is the outstanding style of the season. One very attractive ensemble displayed was fashioned along simple lines with a coat of tan tweed and the dress of tan and red silk crepe de chine with navy blue figures. The skirt had several pleats down the front and was ornamented with a red and tan buckle. Kasha cloth coats and Indian prints are smart for this season, she stated.

A sleeveless white taffeta gown with deep pink and yellow printed roses, the waist being in the basque effect, and a deep pink tulle overskirt was displayed in the fashionable and tastefully decorated salon.

GARFINKLE'S MEN'S STORE

Twist in the tan and wood shades are featured in the suits at Garfinkle's Men's Store. Stripes and stripe effects though principally blended colors are noted in the newest styles while dark blue continues to hold its own for the more conservative.

As to cut, the new suits show a more modified width in trousers. Coats, principally two-buttoned although the collegiate models show the three-button style, are medium being neither too form-fitting nor too loose. There is a tendency toward the rose shades or reddish browns seen in many of the new suits.

Everything tends toward the ensemble idea, with hats, ties and other accessories harmonizing.

C. C. OLNEY'S

The hosiery and underwear departments have a profusion of styles and colors for spring according to C. C. Olney, of Olney's Department store.

Mrs. Eleanor Jones of the millinery shop has many beautiful models for the spring season on display. Leghorns and viscas are popular, she says. Bal-bunt straw is the material used in many of the high-grade hats. The tri-corn turban which suits certain types is one of the best spring models. Beige is ever popular in hats as well as in other garments.

Mrs. Jones believes that large hats will be worn by many women for street as well as dress wear. A large hat of bal-bunt straw with a lace crown and a three leaf clover gold ornament in front was displayed in the window. Many unusual shapes, especially in the small hats, are featured this season she stated. A cunning hat of black satin with a rhinestone ornament in front was also on display. "Felts are always good," said Mrs. Jones.

Fashion Show Well Attended

Garfinkle's Women's shop was last night crowded for the fashion show staged in conjunction with the Spring Styles event of the Richmond Merchants.

A platform was erected in the center of the store and the models made their entrance from the balcony, down the stairs on to the platform in full view of all.

Evening gowns, street and afternoon dresses, suits, coats and sports wear, as decreed by Fashion as the correct thing for spring, were displayed by the living models who promenaded to music of an orchestra for the presentation.

Both performances, at 7 and at 9 o'clock, were crowded to capacity by those eager to catch glimpses of the new styles.

A touch of the modern spirit manifests itself in a gayly colored ensemble costume being shown at Garfinkle's. The suit is seven-eighths length and is all over embroidered in red over rose beige with prominent blue box line across.

The magic wand of night descends and bright lights appear when the gaze falls upon an exquisite creation for evening fashioning of pale green taffeta with all over bodice of shimmering silver lace. A silver bow in Lary monizing colors and a spray of spring flowers are the finishing touches of this stunning evening gown. Novel ideas in sports wear were presented by the models as were some clever ideas in afternoon frocks.
